Airmen prep to serve love

Senior Airman Victoria Kemper, 5th Force Support Squadron dinner shift leader, prepares food for Airmen's enjoyment at the Dakota Inn Dining Facility here Nov. 23. Airmen from the 5th FSS will provide support in preparing the holiday feast for the Day of Love, an annual event providing a home cooked meal to Team Minot's elderly for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Christmas Drop: 58 years of cheer and aid

by Airman 1st Class
Anthony Jennings
36th Wing Public Affairs

ANDERSEN AIR FORCE BASE, Guam (AFNS) - In this region of the Pacific, Santa Claus doesn't fly with 12 reindeer or climb down the chimney to deliver gifts; he drops them from hundreds of feet in the air from the back of a C-130 Hercules.

Airmen plan to deliver 60 pallets of gifts to about 50 islands to help support Guam's neighbors during Operation Christmas Drop, a four-day airdrop mission which delivers donated supplies and gifts to those in need. Flights are scheduled to run from Dec. 13 to 17.

"Many people around the world anxiously wait for December in order to celebrate Christmas," said Col. Tod Fingal, the 36th Wing vice commander. "However, for many men, women and children living across the Pacific, Christmas begins when they see the U.S. Air Force overhead. Many of the remote, Pacific islands have little to no contact with the outside world, and the islands' inhabitants depend on Operation Christmas Drop for much needed supplies."

"It is truly inspiring to see Team Andersen's and the local community's level of generosity in donating much needed supplies to people they have never met," he continued.

Operation Christmas Drop is organized by a nonprofit organization powered by volunteers from here and the local community that has dropped more than 800,000 pounds of goods throughout the islands since operation Christmas Drop's inception.

This year marks the 58th anniversary of Operation Christmas Drop, making it the longest-running airdrop mission in the history of the Air Force.

The Christmas tradition started in 1952 when WB-50 aircraft from the 54th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron, formerly assigned to here, was flying a mission south of Guam. As the aircraft passed over one of the islands, the crew saw islanders waving to them.

The crew gathered miscellaneous items from the plane, put the items in a container, attached it to a parachute and dropped the cargo as they circled around again.

That small gesture of kindness, which started with just one box, has now grown into an island-wide effort to help make Christmas merry for those less fortunate.

Air Force, the University of Guam, media, local government, business, professional and charitable organization members work together to collect cash and merchandise to deliver toys, clothing, fishing equipment, food items and tools to remote islands and atolls in the area.

Survey addresses quality-of-life needs

by Erin Tindell

Air Force Personnel, Services and Manpower Public Affairs

SAN ANTONIO (AFNS) - The 2010 Caring for People Survey gives total force Airmen, civilians, retirees and dependents an opportunity to voice their concerns on how the Air Force can better address their quality-of-life needs. With Airmen deploying in support of global contingency operations for two decades, developing and caring for Airmen and their families continues to be a high priority for Air Force leaders.

"We need to provide for the physical, emotional, cognitive and spiritual well-being of our Airmen and their families," said Secretary of the Air Force Michael Donley during remarks at an Air Force Sergeants Association convention in August. "The needs of Airmen and their families, however changing they may be, are enduring, and we must continue to understand their needs and support."

The last survey was administered in 2008 and helped leaders identify four broad categories of services important to Airmen and their families, health and wellness, Airmen and family support, education and development, and housing and communities.

Insights from the survey and subsequent focus groups spurred the development of several initiatives for each category:

- Six bases are currently testing a new dining concept as part of the Food Transformation Initiative, which improves the quality and availability of food for Airmen.

- $140 million has been allocated to improve fitness facilities.

- Officials have programmed more than $250 million for dormitory improvements, and 23,000 privatized homes have been built or renovated.

- More than $10 million has been allocated to create an Air Force Single Airmen program.

The 2010 Caring for People Survey will continue to build upon the relevance of the 2008 survey so Air Force officials can capture trended data to allow for more robust analysis, said Curt Cornelssen, the chief of future operations for Air Force Services at the Pentagon.

"In this climate of tighter budget constraints, it is imperative that we develop the best picture of what our Air Force community wants and needs, so we can prudently focus our resources," he said. "The last survey only had a 21-percent response rate, so we're hoping to far surpass that this year."

For the first time, this year's survey includes civilians, spouses and retirees to ensure the needs of the total Air Force community are captured, officials said.

The survey will be sent via e-mail in stages beginning Dec. 1, and will work with major command and base officials to reach out to families and retirees.

Pasta with Fire-Roasted Vodka Sauce

Pasta with vodka sauce is an American invention that combines tomato sauce with a splash of vodka and cream. The addition of fire-roasted tomatoes adds a subtle smoky flavor.

- 1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
- 1 cup diced onion (about 4 ounces)
- 3/4 cup diced carrots
- 1/3 cup vodka
- 1 (14-oz) can diced fire-roasted tomatoes, undrained

- 1 cup water
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1/4 cup heavy cream
- 6 cups hot cooked penne (about 12 ounces)

Heat oil in a large nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Add onion and carrot; cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is softened, about 4 minutes. ATTN: Housing Residents Montana Dakota Utilities reminds housing residents to remove snow and ice accumulation from around the natural gas regulators at their homes. If the natural gas regulator quits functioning, the furnace will shut down and the home will not have heat. For more information, contact Montana Dakota Utilities at 857-6810 or the Housing Office at 723-6440.
